

As a recovering addict I know from my experience and all those around me that you do not have the clarity or self awareness to do step work in your first 30 days. I see many people that do relapse because they are unable to grasp the depth of the steps. To each his own, just sharing my beliefs.

- Linda M.