

Voices from Soberstock 2011

“There is one who has all power, that one is God, may you find him now.”

Before recovery, I found it so difficult to live in this broken world. Recovery has shown me that it was me and my attitude, that needed adjusted. It also taught me that of my own power, I could not change that was keeping me sick; my thinking.

I need God's help. It was he, and he alone that saved me. For that I am eternally grateful.

-Anonymous